

BIG BEN

© Engspire.dk

HOUSES OF PARLAMENTS

© Engspire.dk

BUCKINGHAM
PALACE

© Engspire.dk

ROYAL GUARD

© Engspire.dk

TOWER
BRIDGE

© Engspire.dk

BLACK CAB

© Engspire.dk

A CUP OF TEA

© Engspire.dk

BOBBY

© Engspire.dk

It is a famous clock tower which has a giant bell that rings every hour. Many call the tower by the bell's name but it is actually just the name of the bell inside the tower.

© Engspire.dk

This grand building beside the River Thames is where British leaders meet to make important decisions and laws.

© Engspire.dk

It is the official home and palace of the British King. It has more than 700 rooms inside. People gather outside to watch the changing of the King's guards.

© Engspire.dk

Their job is to protect the palace. They wear red uniforms, tall furry hats and stand very still, even though visitors try to make them laugh.

© Engspire.dk

This bridge with two towers and connected by walkways can open up to let tall boats through. and has a unique, beautiful design.

© Engspire.dk

This means of transport is a symbol of London. They are usually black and have drivers who know every corner of London, but they are expensive!

© Engspire.dk

British people love tea. They drink more than 100 million cups a day! Tea time can be any time, but afternoon tea with cake is special.

© Engspire.dk

A slang term of a British police officer. They wear tall helmets to stand out in a crowd. They carry batons instead of guns and try to talk to people to keep peace.

© Engspire.dk

RED
TELEPHONE
BOX

© Engspire.dk

UNION JACK

© Engspire.dk

RIVER THAMES

© Engspire.dk

LONDON EYE

© Engspire.dk

RED POST
BOX

© Engspire.dk

POUNDS

© Engspire.dk

PIGEONS

© Engspire.dk

CRICKET

© Engspire.dk

These red icons are found all over London and were once used to make phone calls before mobiles were common. Now they are popular spots for photos!

© Engspire.dk

The Union Jack is the flag of the UK. Technically, it's only called Union Jack when flown on ships. On land it is just called Union Flag, but most people say Union Jack

© Engspire.dk

This river flows through London and is the longest river in England. It stretches about 215 miles (346 kilometres). You can take boat tours along the Thames.

© Engspire.dk

This giant Ferris wheel on the river Thames offers amazing views of London. Each glass capsule takes about 30 minutes to go all the way around. It is 135 meters high.

© Engspire.dk

In 1874, the colour of these famous London icons changed from green to red to make them easier to find. A few in gold to celebrate British Olympics gold medalists!

© Engspire.dk

These are the British currency and is often represented by the £ symbol. It is the oldest surviving independent currency in the world.

© Engspire.dk

These birds are everywhere in London. They are often called "London's unofficial citizen" because they are always around famous spots like Big Ben.

© Engspire.dk

A very popular sport in England. Some matches goes on for days and still end in a draw! Fans even nap during the games and wake up for the most exciting moments!

© Engspire.dk

LONDON UNDER-GROUND

© Engspire.dk

KING
CHARLES

© Engspire.dk

TOWER OF LONDON

© Engspire.dk

WEST-
MINISTER
ABBEY

© Engspire.dk

RED LONDON
BUS

© Engspire.dk

THE BEATLES

© Engspire.dk

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE

© Engspire.dk

HARRY POTTER

© Engspire.dk

This is also called “the Tube” and it was the first railway in the world under the ground. It opened in 1863. It is a very fast way to get around London.

© Engspire.dk

He became king after Queen Elizabeth II. He has a big role in representing Britain, though he doesn't make the laws.

© Engspire.dk

This castle has an interesting story. It used to be a royal palace, a prison, and even a zoo! This is where the Crown Jewels are kept.

© Engspire.dk

It is a beautiful church. Royal coronations and weddings have been held here. Many famous kings, queens and writers are buried here.

© Engspire.dk

It is a double-decker and you can ride on the top level for great views of the city. In 2023 there are more than 675 routes served by over 8.700 of these vehicles.

© Engspire.dk

This was a very famous rockband from Liverpool. They became world-famous in the 1960's. The songs are still played and they are a big part of the British history.

© Engspire.dk

He is one of the Britian's most famous writers, known for plays like: Romeo and Juliet, and Hamlet. He wrote hundred years ago, but his plays are still performed.

© Engspire.dk

London is home to many places from these films, like the train platform 9 ¾ at King's Cross Station. You can even try to push a trolley through the wall!

© Engspire.dk